

Wildlife Attractions

Contributed by Administrator
Monday, 13 September 2004
Last Updated Friday, 11 March 2005

Las Vegas allows you to see some of the most rare animals of the world.

Las Vegas is host to some of the most exotic animals in the world. Two exciting places to visit while in Las Vegas are the White Tiger Habitat at the Mirage Resort Casino, and the Wildlife Habitat at the Flamingo Las Vegas.

Wildlife Habitat at the Flamingo Las Vegas

The Wildlife Habitat at the Flamingo is unbelievable. Imagine seeing Chilean Flamingos and African Penguins in the middle of the desert. All of the animals are carefully tended by experts and live on islands and streams surrounded by sparkling waterfalls and lush foliage.

The Tiger Habitat at the Mirage Resort and Casino

It is amazing to see these large majestic animals roam freely in an open-air environment featuring a swimming pool with fountains and simulated mountain terrain for the tigers' enjoyment and the public's entertainment. The facility's white setting gives the animals a sense of security by allowing them to blend into the background, and special slanted glass affords better viewing, eliminates glare and helps control the temperature. The Royal White Tigers are rotated continuously in and out of the facility throughout the day. When not appearing in the Habitat, they enjoy their own spacious living environment and can be seen in the lush tropical environment of Siegfried & Roy's Secret Garden and Dolphin Habitat.