

Richard Jeni

Contributed by Administrator
Saturday, 18 September 2004
Last Updated Friday, 11 March 2005

I almost lost my bladder I laughed so hard.

Richard Jeni is probably best known for his show Platypus Man. Well he started as a stand up comedian. He was at the Improv at Harrah's this past weekend, and it was great. Mark Price (best known for his role as Skippy on the show Family Ties) started the show, and MC'd. He had some really funny jokes.

Next up was Lenny Travis (a writer for Comedy Central). He had me falling out of my seat. One of his bits was about polygamy. He was talking about a man with 8 wives, and said, "Guys can you imagine this? As if you don't get enough shit from 1 wife. OH MY GOD it is an Octogon of Shit"

Rounding up the laughter was Richard Jeni himself. I have seen all of his Cable comedy specials and there is nothing like seeing a comedian in person. Since he was in Las Vegas the majority of his material was about gambling, and how people absolutly loose it when they come here.

My wife and I laughed so hard, she quoted the cast of Friends by saying, "I think a little pee came out".

If you ever get the chance to see Richard Jeni...DO IT!

Want to go to the Improv at Harrah's?...visit Amazing Las Vegas.com